NEW ENGLAND BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION

The institutions listed on the following pages meet only one common criterion: each has been authorized by its state government to grant academic degrees at either the associate, bachelor, master, doctoral or professional level. Institutions in the region not meeting this criterion have not been listed.

The data presented, except for the tables and charts at the end of the booklet, were supplied by the institutions themselves. NEBHE does not assume responsibility for the validity of the data supplied by listed institutions, but has no reason to question its accuracy. No attempt has been made to provide information about specific courses of study. Persons desiring such information should address their inquiries to the institutions concerned.

The New England Board of Higher Education is pleased to issue the eleventh edition of this booklet giving general information about the 250 colleges and universities in New England. The demand for information about higher educational opportunities continues at a high level; this publication responds to that demand. While many of these data are available in other scattered sources, we have found that many persons consider the collation this publication provides especially useful.

NEW ENGLAND REGIONAL STUDENT PROGRAM

Undergraduate and graduate opportunities at state universities, state colleges and public two-year colleges and institutes for New England residents — 1972.

New England residents have the unique opportunity of enrolling as regional students at public universities, state colleges, and two-year colleges in other New England states with resident tuition privileges and preferential admission status. The New England Regional Student Program provides this opportunity. It increases a student's choice of study programs and reduces duplication of teaching facilities and personnel among the six state universities, Lowell Technological Institute, 19 state colleges, and 43 public two-year colleges and institutes. (Southeastern Massachusetts University will also be included in the program beginning with the 1973–74 academic year.)

Regional Student Program at State Universities and State Colleges

Each of the six state universities and the Lowell Technological Institute, as well as the 19 state colleges, presently offer both undergraduate and graduate level study programs to qualified out-of-state New England residents under the New England Regional Student Program. All regional study programs are unavailable at one or more of the participating institutions.

Regional Student Program at Two-Year Colleges and Institutes

Beginning in 1968, each New England state agreed to admit a quota of out-of-state New England residents to its two-year colleges and to allow financial advantages to these regional students. Twenty-eight state-supported community and junior colleges as well as 15 technical colleges and vocational institutes presently participate in the New England Regional Student Program.

Qualified students of the six New England states may earn an associate degree and pay the in-state tuition of the recipient institution if accepted under Plan 1 or 2:

Plan 1 — When a study program is not offered at any in-state institution, a student may enroll at any participating out-of-state institution offering that study program.

Plan 2 — When a study program is offered at both in-state and out-of-state institutions, but the out-of-state institution is closer in traveling time to a student's legal residence, that student may enroll at the out-of-state institution under this program.

Booklets describing details and listening participating institutions and study programs at all levels of the New England Regional Student Program may be obtained at $1.25/copy by writing to the New England Board of Higher Education, 40 Grove Street Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181. High school guidance offices are also supplied with copies.
